Overview and disclaimers

The development version of runjags::template_huiwalter contains some modifications/extra features that you may find useful - this bonus material gives you a quick introduction to how to implement some of the things that I will present at the SBED conference (Thursday morning).

DISCLAIMER: these features are in development, so the code WILL CHANGE before the final version has been released. There may also be things that don't work as expected. So please don't put this into production code just yet...

NOTE: The rest of this material is only available in the html version (the PDF ends here, as I am not presenting this).
